Nationally Prominent Author Headlines Post-Election Conference Advising Next Governor

“Are You on Your Own? New York Confronts the Great Risk Shift”

When: November 16, 9:30 AM – 2:30 PM

Where: The State Room, corner of State Street and Eagle Street, Albany NY

Who: Dr. Jacob Hacker, Strauss Professor of Political Science, Yale University, author of The Great Risk Shift (Oxford University Press, 2006)

Who Else:

- Robert Hughes, President, New Visions for Public Schools
- David Jones, President and CEO, Community Service Society
- James Kadamus, former Deputy Commissioner, NYS Education Department
- Rae Rosen, Assistant Vice-President and Senior Economist, Federal Reserve Bank of New York
- John Rugge, CEO, Hudson Headwaters Health Network
- Paula Wilson, Vice-President for Policy, United Hospital Fund

The Schuyler Center for Analysis and Advocacy celebrates its 135th Anniversary with a landmark policy conference on the most ominous trend of our generation: the shifting of economic risk from business and government onto the shoulders of New York’s families.

Join Dr. Jacob Hacker – Yale professor, pundit and renowned economic thinker – to discuss the implications of his explosive new book, The Great Risk Shift, for New York’s next Governor. New York State’s leading analysts and policymakers will comment on what the Great Risk Shift means for our state’s health care, education and economic policies.

Dr. Hacker is also available for pre-conference interviews.
